

JOHN PALMER III MEMORIAL AWARD

The John Palmer III Memorial Award was established in the Spring of 2010 in honor of John Palmer. John served the community colleges as a Division of Continuing Education faculty member for over a decade. He served the Massachusetts Community College Council on two DCE negotiating teams, and chaired one of them. He was a first co-chair of the Adjunct Issues Committee. John's passion for securing the best possible conditions of employment for his DCE colleagues was widely recognized.

Purpose: To recognize an adjunct MCCC member whose service, leadership, and dedication have contributed significantly to MCCC adjunct faculty, as exemplified by the life of John A. Palmer III.

Eligibility: To be eligible for this award, a past or present MCCC adjunct faculty member must meet the following criteria:

- Service to higher education adjunct faculty in the quest for improved working conditions and high standards of professional excellence;
- Demonstration of leadership in the Union and higher education, especially as it pertains to issues of importance to adjunct faculty;
- Exemplification of the concerned and caring approach of John A. Palmer III, who dedicated much of his life to the betterment of adjunct faculty.

Nominations: Any MCCC member may nominate a candidate by completing attached nomination form. The deadline for submitting nominations is March 1. Nominations should be sent to the MCCC President.

Selection of Finalists: The MCCC Executive Committee serves as a screening committee. The Executive Committee submits its recommendations for the award to the Board of Directors for approval.

The Award: The John A. Palmer III Award is presented by the MCCC President or the President's designee during the MCCC Delegate Assembly in a ceremony designed to place emphasis on the importance of the Award.

DEADLINE: MARCH 1

Nominations must be received at the MCCC Office by March 1.
